Affordable housings plans

JOHN WATSON
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Town of Strathmore will soon be hosting a public hearing regarding the potential land use redesignation of 9 Bay-side Place.

As initially discussed during the Feb. 15 regular meeting of council, an application has been brought forward to facilitate the development of attached housing on the plot.

This location is the site of the former Strathmore Seed Cleaning Plant, which was decommissioned in 2019 and demolished in 2020. The site has remained vacant since.

“Administration received an application to redesignate 9 Bayside Place – the location of the old seed cleaning plant, to a direct control district based on the R3M medium density modest residential district,” explained Megan Williams, with the Town Municipal Planning Division. “The applicant is asking to redesignate this site to facilitate a two-phased development. The first of which is a 60-unit affordable housing townhouse development.”

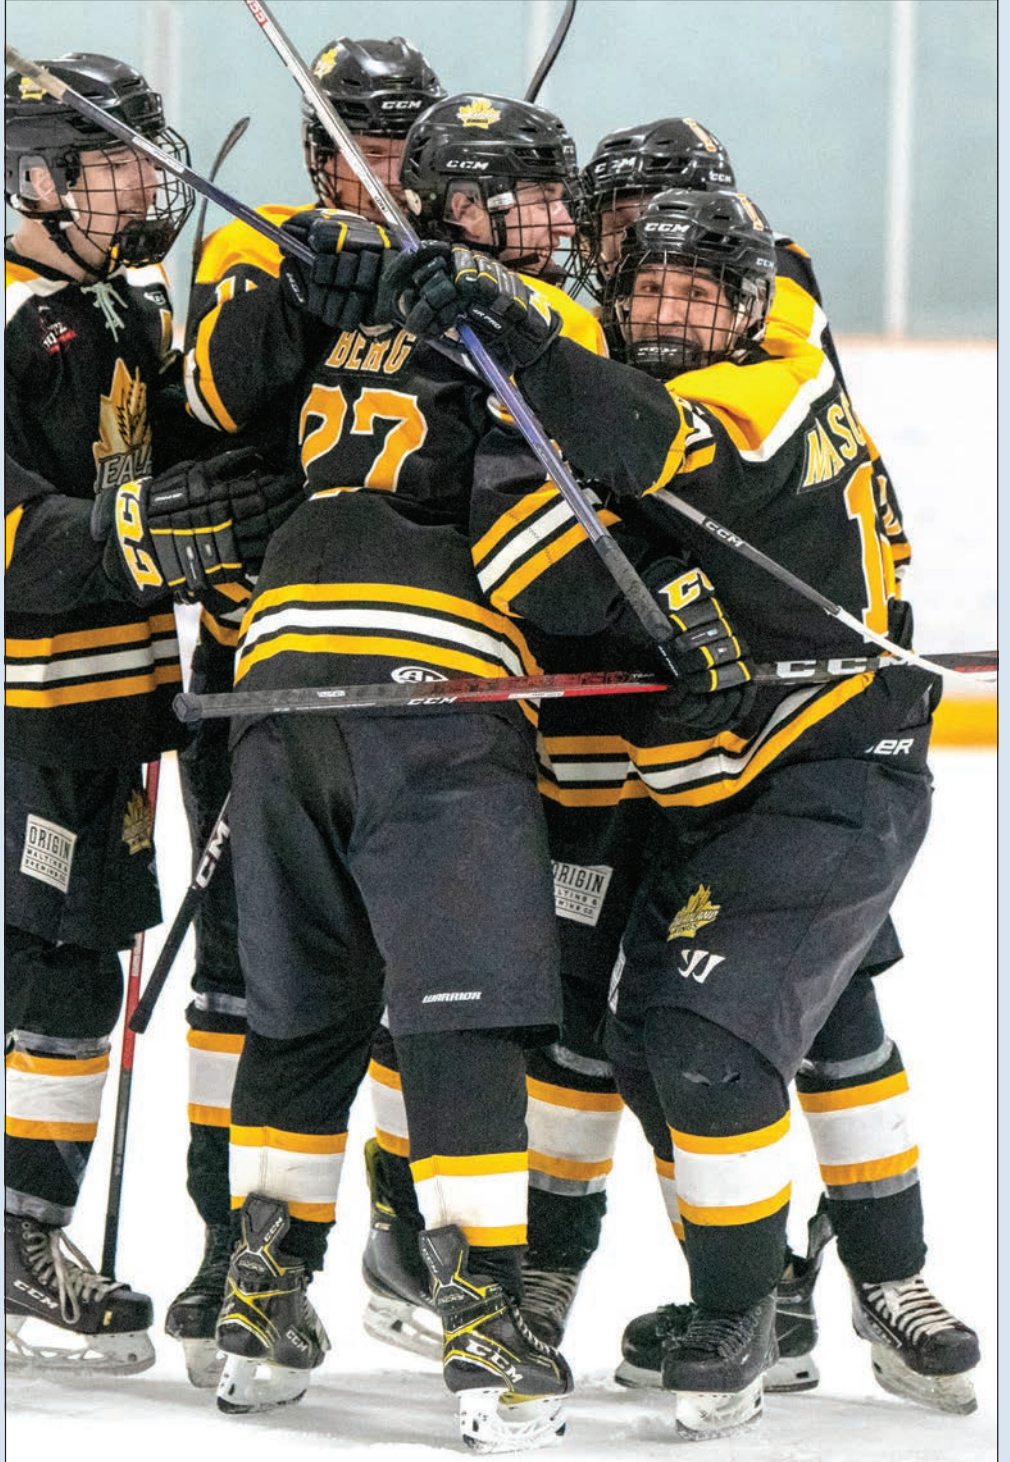

She added a subdivision application was also submitted simultaneously by the applicant and is currently with town administration for review.

The subdivision application, if successful, would see two parcels from the subject lands created. A tentative site plan was presented to council during the meeting.

The applicant has requested the following amendments be passed regarding the parcel of land in order to facilitate further planning and construction:

- Remove the maximum building height of three stories in the district’s purpose statement
- Add “housing attached” as a permitted use
- Increase the distance balconies may project from the building, as well as how far balconies and landings may project into a rear yard setback

The Wheatland Kings are off to Round 2 of the HJHL playoffs after they dispatched the Coaldale Copperheads 4-3 in overtime on Feb. 19 at the Strathmore Family Centre. After both teams won on the road in Games 1 and 2, the local Junior B team iced the best-of-three series with a huge win on home ice. The Kings will now take on the league-leading Okotoks Bisons in a best-of-seven series in Round 2. See Page 5 for more coverage.

Property assessment notices

Reminder, property assessment Notices were mailed on January 11, 2023.

Each year properties in your neighborhood are assessed based on economic conditions and their physical characteristics. These assessments determine the estimated market value of homes in Strathmore - these values then help determine your property taxes.

When you receive your notice, you'll have a chance to review it. If you have any questions or concerns you can contact Wildrose Assessment Services at 403-343-3357.

Didn't receive a Notice of Assessment? If you've recently changed or registered a land title, you should know that Alberta Land Titles is approximately four months behind in processing these requests. This could delay delivery of your assessment notice. If you don't receive your notice by January 31, please contact the Town Office at 403-934-3133.

Homeowners who feel their assessments may be incorrect have the opportunity to appeal their assessment by filing complaint with the Clerk of the Assessment Review Board. This can be done by emailing ARBclerk@Strathmore.ca.

All complaints must be submitted using the Assessment Review Board Complaint form, available at the Strathmore Municipal Building or online at Strathmore.ca/Assessment. Appeals must be registered prior to this year's deadline, March 20.

Badlands Search and Rescue seeking new recruits

JOHN WATSON
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

Badlands Search and Rescue are once again hosting spring recruiting sessions for those potentially interested in becoming a volunteer.

Founder and President, Scott Campbell, said the sessions will be an opportunity for folks to learn about the organization and what the commitment requirement would look like in order to get involved.

“It is not just going out and walking around randomly. It is actually professional level training. We run our members through a search and rescue basics course and do ongoing training throughout the year,” he said. “We do everything from navigation to search techniques, first aid, communications, survival skills, and a whole list of things that I just wouldn’t be able to touch on everything.”

Campbell described Wheatland County as a “low frequency but high-risk area,” referring to the low number of situations which require a search and rescue team, but high urgency when it does happen.

Some of the primary concerns local search and rescue address are topographical, being that somebody may not know they are lost or do not know how to navigate the area, or regarding a person’s mental health.

“It’s the people who don’t know they’re lost that we typically look for, or people who don’t want to be found,” he explained. “These are people with dementia, on the Alzheimer’s related spectrum, young children who may not realize they are lost, or people who are maybe going through a rough patch in their life and do not want to be found – in some cases who are potentially suicidal.”

During a search, Badlands Search and Rescue may assist local RCMP typically with locating evidence, or assisting with a missing persons case for which human remains have been found in a specific area.

Following the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, Campbell added Badlands Search and Rescue saw a number of their members step away from volunteering, and the team is now trying to rebuild their numbers.

“Unfortunately, that is the norm for a lot of the teams,” he said. “Normally, we have people for about five or six years, but we are trying to increase that to 10 years.”

Pandemic aside, he explained member loss tends to occur when people move away or otherwise have significant life developments.

Volunteering with the Badlands Search and Rescue also comes with a tax credit incentive which is eligible to be noted on anyone’s income tax, similar to that of a volunteer firefighter, and the training sessions are free to attend.

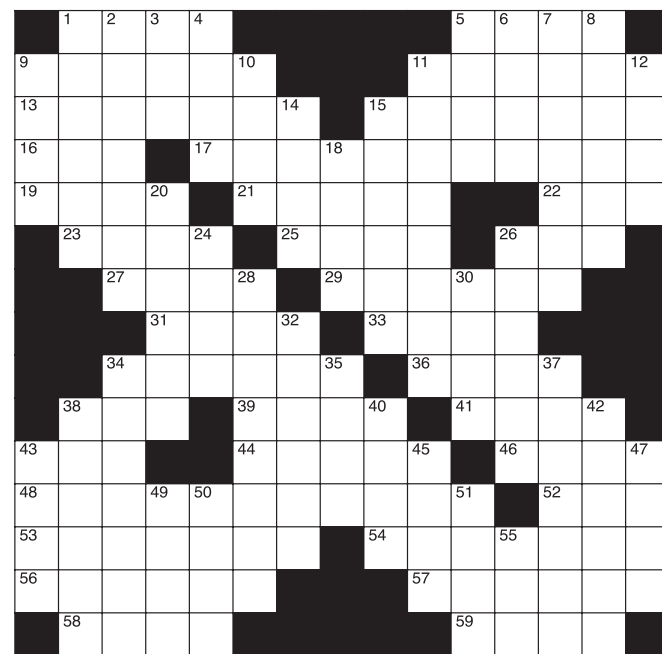

Recruitment events for Badlands Search and Rescue are scheduled to take place in Strathmore at the Fire Station on March 11, March 25 and March 30 from 1:30 p.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Town encouraging physical activity for heart month

JOHN WATSON
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Town of Strathmore is encouraging residents to get active and improve cardiovascular health in the spirit of February’s Health Month.

“It is a challenge to encourage community members to get active either walking on the track to see how many laps they can do ... how many laps they can swim... and we also are encouraging them to go to a drop-in public skate,” said Lisa Montgomery, Strathmore Motor Products Sport Centre manager.

Mileage in kilometers logged at any of Strathmore’s three recreation facilities will contribute to an overall total per person at the end of the month. Attending scheduled fitness classes will also add to this total.

Montgomery explained the challenge was created to give locals some motivation to get back into fitness following the winter season, as it is easy to not want to be active when the weather gets cold.

“We thought we would create a friendly challenge, which allows people to engage in regular social activity while having the additional benefit of exercise,” she said. “Since heart disease is so prominent in Canada, we thought that celebrating and creating a challenge during heart month would be great.”

Montgomery added she has helped to work on and facilitate similar challenges in Calgary at other facilities, which were part of the inspiration to bring the program to Strathmore.

As of Feb. 13, the program had already seen 42 people registered at the Sports Centre in a wide host of age demographics.

“People are coming every day, they are checking in, they tell us when they are going to miss a day, they look forward to seeing their peers and there is a little friendly competition between some people to see who can walk the furthest,” said Montgomery. “It is huge for people’s mental health because not only are they getting the positive effects of having exercise, but they are also connecting with peers and coming out and having that social aspect (which) is really important to everybody.”

There will be a prize at the end of the month which has yet to be announced by the town or by the Sports Centre.

The person who achieves the highest milage between their activities at the Sports Centre, pool, and free skates will be awarded a grand prize. A second and third place prize is also available.

Montgomery added this is a program she hopes to see return on an annual basis to encourage the community to resume healthy activities as winter draws to a close.

DAHF requests financial aid to host fundraiser

JOHN WATSON
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Drumheller Area Health Foundation (DAHF) is requesting financial aid from Wheatland County to help offset incurred costs to operate an upcoming fundraiser.

A presentation was made to the Wheatland County Public Presentation Committee, Feb. 14 in order to introduce the request and provide the county with information regarding its purpose.

“This organization started with the purchase of a CT scanner and they successfully raised enough funds to bring it to our hospital. Since then, countless amounts have been purchased with gracious donors supporting the foundation, making it possible for the DAHF to continue to support and enhance patient care,” said Mary Marshman, who spoke to the committee on behalf of the DAHF. “Without the initiative of these dedicated people, we wouldn’t have the amazing facility that we have today at the Drumheller Health Centre. It is with this spirit of dedication that we as a board carry forward for today and for the future of our area residents.”

The DAHF is requesting a $500 donation from Wheatland County, to pool with donations from Town of Drumheller, Kneehill County, Starland County, and the Special Areas Board.

In total, the donations to offset the cost of the April 1 fundraiser would equate to $2,500. Thus far, all four other bodies have agreed to provide the $500 donation.

During her presentation, she explained the DAHF serves patients east of the Saskatchewan border, west towards Three Hills, north towards Stettler, south towards Cluny, Gleichen, Hussar and southwest towards Rosebud, Rockyford, Standard and Strathmore.

She added the DAHF has committed to raising $120,000 for 2023 in the purchasing of a hysteroscope for $70,000 and an electrical surgical unit for supporting colonoscopy surgeries for $40,000.

During the fundraiser, a silent auction and a 50/50 draw will be hosted in order to continue raising money throughout the night.

“There will be a time in each of our lives, whether it is ourselves personally, or someone we love who will need hospital care. Be it emergency, acute, surgical, continuing care, maternity, mental health, palliative or various support services such as diagnostics, cancer treatments or dialysis,” added Marshman. “Since 1994, DAHF has been improving patient care by purchasing the equipment that is not funded by Alberta Health Services.”

This fundraiser will mark the first in-person event hosted by the DAHF since the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The event is scheduled to take place at the Badlands Community Facility in Drumheller. The Public Presentation Committee voted to accept the presentation as information and to discuss it at the next meeting of county council.

Kings take out Copperheads

JOHN WATSON
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Wheatland Kings have survived the first round of their playoff run, defeating the Coaldale Copperheads in overtime of the decisive game of their best of three series.

Cole Walker converted a feed from Chase Berg and Jaycob Masciangelo to provide the overtime winner in a 4-3 win in Game 3.

Opening the game strong, the Kings claimed the first two goals of the game, followed by a goal made by Coaldale's Rylan Bruns to close out the first period.

The Copperheads tied the game with a powerplay goal in the second, before going down 3-2 to the Kings with 1:38 left in the middle frame, with a goal made by Carter Gosling.

Drew Constant opened the third period with a goal less than a minute in, bringing the game to a tie, 3-3.

After falling 4-2 in Game 1 on Feb. 16, Kings head coach Doug Raycroft said his team needed to maintain better control of the puck and play a faster game in order to survive the playoffs.

"We played their kind of game ... and we have to be ready to play our kind of game, and our kind of game is moving the puck fast and skating," he said. "We bought into their game ... we got sucked into some penalties and lost a couple of forwards. And, of course, we were already down. (Kobe) Gosling got suspended in the previous game, and we got a couple injuries so that makes it rough."

Raycroft described the series akin to going into battle, and having to fight for every inch of ice, and in Game 1, it was too late for the Kings by the time the boys got their engines warm.

In Game 2 of the series on Feb. 18, however, the Kings answered right back, putting themselves on the board with a 3-1 victory over the Copperheads, and allowing them the opportunity to take the series overall.

Going forward, Raycroft said his team will have to continue to bring their best if they are to continue moving forward through the playoffs.

"We are going to have to bring everything we have, and it's going to be a battle. We just told the boys, get ready, take care of your body, take care of yourself, get some sleep because it is going to be a war," he said.

The Kings will now take on the Okotoks Bisons in Round 2, which will begin Wednesday, Feb. 22 in Okotoks at the Murray and Piper Arena, starting at 8 p.m. Game 2 is slated for Feb. 24 (8 p.m.).

The Kings will host Game 3 on Feb. 25 (8 p.m.) at the Strathmore Family Centre.

Westmount School resumes pre-pandemic school production

JOHN WATSON
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

Following a three-year hiatus, Westmount School was finally able to bring back their annual drama production, resuming their rendition of Dr. Seuss' The Lorax.

Sarah Rommens, a teacher at Westmount and the production co-director, said the students have been working on the play since September and were extremely excited to finally present the show.

"We had about 33 actors between our Grade 5 and Grade 6 population, and they do weekly rehearsals as well as some dress rehearsals during the week here at school," she said. "In order to involve our whole school, we also do something called a Collaborative Drama Program, where we get together three times throughout working on the play and each student has a responsibility towards the production."

Students who were not actively on stage were included in creating props, helping with costumes and makeup, making backgrounds, and other auxiliary jobs to support the play.

For those who may be unfamiliar with The Lorax, the story is about a creature who is trying to protect its environment against a man called the Once-ler, who has invented a Thneed which everyone needs, and is chopping down all of the Lorax's trees.

"Our actors kind of become like local celebrities in the school and everyone knows who the Lorax is and they are really excited. They presented to their school population twice, and then we had two performances to people in the community, friends and family," said Rommens. "Everyone seemed to be buzzing about their grandparents coming to watch and we invited all of the seniors in our community to come down from the lodge and we hoped that there would be a full house for our kids who have worked so hard."

Westmount School's The Lorax was originally intended to be shown in the spring of 2020, though it was curtains for the production two weeks before showtime.

Though the school typically assembles a different production every year, Rommens explained the team was eager to finish the project which originally began in 2019.

"That was a huge disappointment for those kids who had really, they put everything into it, and then we were two weeks short of performing," said Rommens.

She added school staff initially ran into difficulties rallying students to participate, given the amount of time since last a show was put together.

"A lot of the kids kind of forgot what this drama production was about, so we did have to rally people a little bit harder to come and audition. The kids in the play were in grade two the last time they watched it," said Rommens. "Now we hope with further, future years, just based on this collaborative drama and now the kids seeing how great of a production it is that we will get that interest back into it."

Westmount Elementary School hosted their rendition of Dr. Seuss' The Lorax, after having to put off their drama program since the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. Students performed the show twice for their peers and classmates, as well as twice for family, friends and those within the community.

The desire for more healthy and more sustainable foods has sped up the search for "cultivated meats". Millions of dollars has been invested into the research of growing meat cells with the goal of replicating beef, pork and seafood and now cultured chicken is starting to be available. These "meats" are cell-based products and are distinct from veggie burgers and other plant-based products.

Many people don't realize that NSAIDs (ibuprofen, naproxen) can harm the kidneys. These drugs can decrease the blood flow to the kidneys and this can worsen in people who are dehydrated or have a viral illness. These drugs are very popular and easily obtained without a prescription. Before using them, check with your doctor or pharmacist.

A new method of removing wrinkles has been authorized for use in Canada and the U.S. Called Ellacor, it is not a face lift which involves surgery. This new method creates thousands of micro-punches in the skin resulting in tiny bits of tissue being removed. The size of the punches is about the size of a 22-gauge needle and no scarring results.

Did you know that our bodies are generally at their physiological peak at the age of 25? Then, it's a slow, downhill slide from there. Heart function starts to decline, blood vessels narrow, muscle strength declines and many other body organs don't operated at peak efficiency. Depressing isn't it? However, we can slow that decline by appropriate exercise and diet and regular medical and dental checkups.

Legion starts Coffee and Comradeship

JOHN WATSON
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Strathmore Legion hosted an event inviting Canadian Armed Forces and RCMP, current, retired, or allied, to come share their stories and rebuild a sense of local community on Feb. 11.

The program is being called Coffee and Comradeship, and is sponsored by the local Tim Hortons, Shell location.

Kevin Armitage, a retired military veteran, said the idea has been in the works for several months now and is finally ready to launch.

“It really is just about veterans getting back together with veterans and not feeling completely isolated out in a community where nobody else knows what you are talking about,” he said. “(Saturday was) the very first function, so I don’t know how many people got the word and how many are coming out. The idea is about supporting military personnel (and) I was inspired to do this by my own personal journey and healing.”

Going forward, the function will take place on the second and fourth Saturdays of every month, starting at 11 a.m. and going until 1 p.m.

According to the legion, folks who wish to attend do not have to be members to join in, as the event is simply about spending time with comrades and fellows for coffee and a donut.

“I’m very, I’m very excited about it, right, because I know that there’s so much to be offered to the veterans through our communities ... I want to get the guys out of the woodwork, get them out of their own heads,” said Armitage. “The legion is supposed to be about veterans looking after veterans, giving them a safe place to come and hang out.”

Armitage added he was inspired to get the Coffee and Comradeship function off the ground by similar events hosted elsewhere in the province.

He explained other legions have been hosting similar events for roughly two years, and it was time to introduce the idea to Strathmore.

“The impact is huge. For each person, that is going to be different as to what the impact is because you can talk to anybody in the world and all of a sudden you are not paying attention to it and it doesn’t affect you,” he said. “Then, all of a sudden, somebody who you know and admire says the exact same thing to you, and now it has an effect on you ... you may meet somebody here who you connect with and who you can find your help with, or just somebody to hang out with.”

Veterans, RCMP and allies from outside of Strathmore and Wheatland County are also welcome to join the function should they decide to make the trip out.

Bonspiel winners

The Strathmore and District Curling Club hosted their annual ladies’ bonspiel from Feb. 8-12. Team Cannon claimed the A Event, while Team Muselman and Team Garlock took the B Event and C Event respectively.

Strathmore resident wins voucher to fund family vacation

JOHN WATSON
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

Strathmore resident Wendy Bell is off to plan a vacation for her family, after winning a $2,000 WestJet Voucher from Value Drug Mart.

According to Strathmore Value Drug Mart Owner, Stacie Morck, the contest took place across Alberta, throughout each of the province’s Value Drug Mart locations.

“You could come in and earn stamps towards your passport and you would get your name entered into a draw. What Value Drug Mart did was, through their 28 stores, they decided to have this promo,” said Morck. “We were lucky here in Strathmore to have one of the winners here, so Wendy won a $2,000 voucher to go travel.”

Morck added the contest was the first time Value Drug Mart proposed such an idea for the holidays, and following the success of the draw, would like to see its return in future years.

Apparently there are already ideas floating around for other contests that may be run in order to continue encouraging folks to come out and shop in-store.

“We do a lot of little things ... but as I understand for where we are going now is that we are taking it to a new level,” said Morck. “One of the big things that they try to do with Value Drug Marts is involve the community and local families as much as possible, so I think we are going to have a whirlwind of fun in the next few months.”

As for Bell, she said she is excited to travel, as there has not been an opportunity to do so since the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic in early 2020.

Bell and her family were able to sneak in a trip to Disneyland in February 2020, returning to Canada just before strict pandemic measures were put into place.

“I am feeling excited to travel. We are a family of four, so this definitely helps with planning for a nice family vacation,” said Bell. “When I first got the phone call, I suggested to my husband that we go to New York, but that would be just the two of us, so in reality, we would go on a family vacation.”

Amidst her research and planning for the family’s eventual vacation, Hawaii as a destination has been circulating their thoughts.

Ultimately, Bell said she would likely take as long as a year to plan her family’s vacation in order to make the most of it, as well as to save for any activities they may want to do while away.

Growing Alberta’s economy

LEELA SHARON AHEER
Chestermere-Strathmore MLA

Hello Chestermere-Strathmore readers. It has been a privilege to see our rural communities’ growth and contribution to Alberta’s economy’s diversification. The momentum is amazing, so I am sharing that our government is providing $2.1 million in capacity building grants. The purpose of these grants is targeted to “initiatives that strengthen economic development capacity and promote sustainable growth and diversification in our rural communities,” said Nate Horner, Minister of Agriculture and Irrigation.

Organizations that have received one-time funding to build capacity within their communities are:

- Alberta Association of Agricultural Societies – $50,000 for the Rural Development Cluster Coaching Series that focuses on developing agri-tourism, creating rural partnerships and using regional approaches.
- Alberta Women Entrepreneurs – $195,000 to expand the NextStep to Success program, which offers Indigenous women entrepreneurs with mentorship, business training and guidance on developing small business supports.
- Alberta Municipalities – $150,000 to support their members in accessing grant programs for municipalities.
- Economic Developers Alberta – $130,000 for education and skills training, mentoring and creating networks that share best practices.
- Rural Municipalities of Alberta – $150,000 for a rural-focused economic development officer course and a micro-grant program to support members in determining economic development opportunities within a municipality or region.

- Young Agrarians – $100,000 for an on-farm apprenticeship program to develop hands-on skills and knowledge to run a rural farm business.

Alberta’s government has also committed $125,000 to each of the nine Regional Economic Development Alliances to support long-term economic prosperity in their respective regions.

Also, $200,000 was allocated for the Public Library Grant for Skill Development in Rural Alberta. This one-time grant program will assist public library boards in smaller rural areas to strengthen their services and programs to support communities in becoming more resilient and sustainable. The Economic Development in Rural Alberta Plan was released on Dec. 14, 2022, and focuses on:

- Identifying and improving economic development-enabling infrastructure to support investment and growth in rural Alberta.
- Advancing entrepreneurship capacity and a culture of innovation across rural Alberta.
- Enabling skills development in rural communities to enhance workforce capacity today and for the future.
- Enhancing rural Alberta’s reputation and capacity as a diverse tourism destination.
- Enhancing rural economic development through regional and targeted capacity building

As always, we love to hear from you!
(Leela Sharon Abeer is the MLA Elect for Chestermere-Strathmore)

FARTHING, Donna Adaleen
October 15, 1930 - February 8, 2023

Mrs. Donna Farthing of Carseland, Alberta passed away peacefully at Age Care Glenmore, Calgary on February 8, 2023, at the age of 92 years.

Donna was dearly loved by her family and will be missed by her husband of 72 years, Theodor Farthing, son Stephen Farthing (Karyn) and daughter Karen Angell (Roger). Donna adored her grandchildren Taylor Farthing (Laura), Tralauney Thomas, Nathan Steele (Katie), Kristy Sidock (Craig), Jaymee Magnuson (Chris), Lindsey Angell (Kyle) and Naomi Angell (Gino). Donna was blessed with 13 great grandchildren. Our mother was predeceased by her brothers Laurence Mackie (Muriel) and Robert Mackie (Lillian).

Donna was born to John Mackie and Dorothy (Beagle) in Arrowwood. The family moved to the Carseland area and then to Strathmore. Donna worked for the Canadian Imperial Bank in Calgary and married in 1951. Ted's career in the Royal Canadian Air Force took the family many places; Northern Alberta, Quebec, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and back to Alberta. Donna settled the family, navigated new neighbourhoods, made friends, volunteered and worked.

Donna was a Girl Guide leader and enjoyed camping. She supported WWF and SCPA. After several years on an acreage in Sherwood Park minding grandchildren, chickens, horses and sheep Donna retired with Ted in Carseland. She curled and bowled in Strathmore and was a member of Carseland's Jet Setters Club.
