Town estimating financial surplus

JOHN WATSON

Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Town of Strathmore is forecasting a nearly quarter-million dollar financial surplus at the conclusion of this fiscal year, according to the latest quarterly report.

Tom Maier, manager of financial reporting and budgeting, said though the projection is just an estimate, it is a significant asset to the town, should they stay on track with their current budget.

"This is just a snapshot at this point in time, as we move towards the end of the year. It is a bit of a moving target but right now, we are forecasting a surplus of about a quarter-million dollars," said Maier. "It would have been significantly higher than that, but we had the impact of the MSI grant that was to be used for debt payments. That has lowered it, but we are still in a positive position."

He added the goal for the town for the remainder of the fiscal year is to remain on target for its expenditures.

Ideally, Maier said, he will present another report to council before financial statements are brought forward in April.

"We are pretty well on target for our expenditures and revenue for the year," he said. "As indicated in the report, we are at about 98 per cent of our revenue and 97 per cent of our expenses so we are pretty well on target."

The town has yet to process the tax revenue from the solar farm for this year, which will be detailed in December.

The town is currently awaiting assessment details from the province in order to fine-tune its revenue from the solar farm. Maier estimated $150,000 of tax income for the town from the farm.

"Hopefully it is less than that in the future, but it is something that we need to be aware of and account for it," said Maier.

Strathmore Spartans defeated in provincial finals

JOHN WATSON

Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Strathmore High School Spartans Squared off against the Holy Rosary Raiders for the provincial title, Nov. 25, and suffered defeat 44-0.

CALGARY DAY TRIPS SPEND THE DAY IN CALGARY

CALL 403-325-7473 FOR TICKETS The Raiders, hailing from Lloydminster, claimed their first provincial victory in seven years, having themselves been defeated in the finals the past six seasons.

For the Spartans, it is the first time in the team's 25-year history to reach provincials, let alone battling their way to the finals. The team worked their way to second from seeding sixth at the start of the provincial championship.

"I'm proud of this team for the job they did this year, but we have still got a ways to go to catch up to the best," said Danny Warrack, head coach of the Spartans football team. "If you're not first, you're last, but it was a good season. I'm proud of the guys and all that, but we definitely have to get working on offseason training come January. We need a good offseason so we can be back in this game again next year."

Warrack explained it was pretty clear throughout the course of the game the Raiders had the Spartans completely outmatched.

"They are definitely bigger, stronger and faster than us," he said. "Our quarterback struggled a bit, but it's not all on him. They are just a better team in all three phases."

Brady Johansen (17), who was one of the Spartan's captains, said he never expected to help lead the team all the way to the finals, and was glad to have the opportunity to play.

"At the start of the season, we had a lot of inexperience on our team ... it's just been a great path that we've taken as a team and we have definitely all worked hard towards this goal," Johansen said. "It's been my dream to be here since I was just a little boy. So I just wanted to say thank you to everybody who made an effort to help me reach my goal."

For the captains who will replace Johansen and his fellows, he said to keep the team calm on the field and strive to be as level-headed as possible.

"As leaders of the team, we have to be the people to look up to, not the people who are losing their heads all the time," said Johansen. "That is definitely the biggest part about being a captain."

Johansen has received an offer from the University of British Columbia to continue his football career, and is talking with other schools about potential enrollment.

For Warrack, it will be back to the drawing board in the off season to prepare those on the team who will be returning next year, as well as the new faces who will be signing on.

"I'm ready to go already for next year, so I hope the boys are too," said Warrack. "They'll definitely be contending next year, I think, as long as they have a good offseason. Championships are built in the offseason."

Strathmore to see launch of local cornhole league

JOHN WATSON

Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

For those who are fans of cornhole, soon you will have to look no further than the Strathmore Agricultural Society grounds, as a league prepares to launch in town.

Lance Smith, who is organizing the league, said the idea originally came up at a party roughly six years ago.

"We just started out with a bunch of people over and decided we should have a cornhole tournament. We had about 15 teams for the first year and we were playing on two sets of boards in my back alley with flood lamps for after it got dark," he said.

"The next year it grew a little bit, and then the next year it grew a little bit, and we have been in the curling rink for the last four years. This year I had 48 teams in it and we played on 20 sets of boards from one end of the curling rink to the other."

Amongst his coworkers, the decision was made to start hosting a formal league. According to Smith, prior to the COVID-19 pandemic there were two official cornhole leagues in Alberta.

Now that Smith's league is officially recognized with the Canadian Cornhole Association, it makes the seventh league in Alberta.

"It has grown quite a bit in the last couple of years. Leagues are popping up all over the country," said Smith. "All you have to do is get people out once. That is the key because I've had people look at me like I'm crazy when I tell them ... and then they come in, they have a great time and they stick around."

Strathmore's league will be launching with a 10week trial period at the Ag Society grounds in the pavilion building in order to gauge local interest in the sport.

Committing to the 10-week league will cost a participant $100, or they can pay $15 at the door for a one-night drop-in participation.

Should enough interest be generated locally, Smith said the cornhole league may decide to stick around all year long, much like similar leagues in places such as Calgary.

Though there are formal regional and national championships, Smith added those are currently beyond the ambitions of his league, though play at that level is not a total pipe dream.

Strathmore's league will start out as more of a casual league that is welcoming and friendly to beginners, intending to welcome those who are just coming out to have fun.

The official league start in Strathmore will be on Jan. 10, 2023 and will run every Tuesday starting at 6:30 p.m. for the initial 10-week period. League nights are estimated to wrap up at roughly 9:30 p.m. on play nights.

Town looking to update local reservoir systems

JOHN WATSON Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Town of Strathmore is seeking grant funding from the Province of Alberta to aid in updating its local reservoir systems.

Ethan Wilson, manager of infrastructure for the town, said though the town has been previously unsuccessful in receiving the grant, he believes the projects will qualify this year and it is worthwhile to apply at bare minimum.

"The Alberta Municipal Water and Wastewater Partnership is a grant that is offered annually - its intake day is Nov. 30, and in order to apply for the grant, we do require council's consent," he explained during the Nov. 16 regular council meeting. "This year, we are looking to apply for two grants under this program. One is a grant that we applied for last year, which is the PLC and SCADA (software) upgrades at our wastewater treatment plant, and the other is upgrades to our reservoir distribution system."

The reservoirs which are to be affected by future and ongoing projects are the Brentwood Reservoir, and the Wildflower Reservoir. The former of which is set for decommissioning, as it is nearWildflower was built, we still had the Westmount Reservoir and we had the Brentwood Reservoir."

With the Brentwood Reservoir sentenced to decommissioning, Wilson noted the Wildflower Reservoir will need to pick up the slack in its absence. Effectively, the pumping capacity of the reservoir would need to be increased to accommodate for fire flows and general pressures throughout the town.

Wildflower is able to increase its storage capacity, which Wilson explained would be the next steps to increasing the town's reservoir capacity.

Following that would be the construction of a new reservoir on the east side of town once developments in the area saturate the area more completely.

Wilson did not elaborate on any details as to what such a reservoir may look like once its development becomes a necessity, nor how long such a project would take to see completion.

He added both projects currently on the docket, if successful in receiving grant funding would begin in 2023, as the PLC/SCADA upgrades are already present within the town's capital budget.

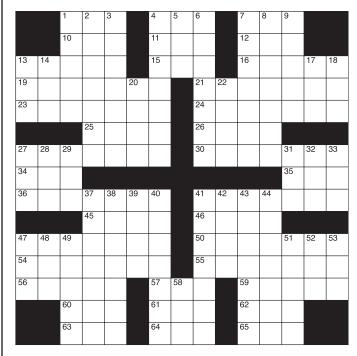

If the town is unsuccessful in receiving grant funding for the projects, they will continue as planned regardless. The project is estimated to see

Town Councillor launches new charity challenge

JOHN WATSON Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

Town of Strathmore Coun. Richard Wegener is challenging the community to come together and raise donations for the Strathmore Overnight Shelter. He explained his goal with the challenge is to bring some more attention to some of the charities operating in town.

"What I am doing with the Overnight Shelter, I am hoping to get the word out there so that people will donate to the shelter," said Wegener. "At the end of it, I believe it is Dec. 21 is kind of what I want, I am going to call an end to it and I will match all of the funds raised up to $1,000 of my own money."

He feels, especially since his joining Strathmore Town Council, that he and his family have been able to live fortunately, thus spawning the idea to give back.

"We always had shelter and food and entertainment – all the basics of life," said Wegener. "A lot of people don't have that, so I got thinking I could make a contribution that being a councillor afforded me."

Now that the challenge has kicked off, Wegener intends to keep up the event annually, if not more often, so long as he remains a part of Strathmore's town council.

He decided to support the overnight shelter this time around following a recommendation from a friend who mentioned how much the organization does for Strathmore's community.

In a subsequent charity challenge, perhaps in the summer, Wegener added he intends to support the Wheatland County Food Bank.

Thus far, though the campaign is still in its infancy, Wegener explained he has received more support than he initially expected to see for his initiative.

"I am getting from the people who I have talked to, it is getting a good response. I spoke with the radio station and it is being promoted there ... I am getting support from the people on council, and I guess they are passing the information on," said Wegener. "The goal is for there to be at least $1,000 donated to the overnight shelter by the end of the campaign, but I am giving that much regardless, whether it is in matched funds or if it is just my own donation."

For those who are interested, donations can be made directly to the Overnight Shelter at the facility, or folks can call in at 403-880-3171.

Wegener is also promoting the challenge via his own social media and is able to take questions about the challenge should the community have any.

Over the course of 2022, 80 capital projects were launched, with 10 being delayed, and five being cancelled altogether.

"We have a number – more than probably in the past, that have been delayed just because of material costs and other factors not allowing those projects to move ahead this year," he said.

The town is forecasting to have spent $8.8 million of their budgeted $9.6 million on capital projects this year by the time any outstanding projects are completed.

Maier suggested that the town keep any savings in reserves for future use on projects in later years.

Christmas Hamper Society collection period in full swing

IOHN WATSON

Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Strathmore Wheatland Christmas Hamper Society (SWCHS) began its annual toy and food drive as of Nov. 14 for this year's Christmas hampers.

Marilyn Galvin, chair of the SWCHS, said since the kickoff of this year's collection period, a high volume of requests came in immediately. Now, though more requests continue to come in for hampers, the number of new requests on a daily basis is not so dramatic.

We started off fairly high with our requests for hampers, but it has leveled off a little bit now. There will be another rush here at the end of this month," she said. "We have food and toy donation bins all over Strathmore, and you can go to our Facebook page to see where they all are. We are probably on par with where we were last year with what we have received thus far."

in Strathmore in 1981 by the Happy Gang, initially being able to help out a handful of families at a time.

Eventually, Galvin explained, the program continued to grow into the large-scale initiative that it is today, with hundreds of families supported by the Christmas hampers every year.

She estimated this year will see more than 300 food hampers requested, a target she is confident the society will be able to hit.

For the toys, it is presenting a bit more of a challenge as the team is estimating nearly 400 requests will be received from the local community.

"Everything is going to make an impact. We are finding this year, which is unbelievable, that the businesses around town are running their own collections with incentives for people to bring in and drop off," said Galvin. "The town is offering to forgive tickets for donations, we have others who are offering percentages off with their

The Christmas hampers were started businesses, we have great involvement this year from the sports teams and clubs who are promoting bringing toys or food to their games."

> Last year, according to Galvin, the volume of hampers needed was up by 15 per cent from the year before. She explained the team this year has attempted to budget and plan for even higher numbers of requested hampers this year.

> Ultimately, the goal is to be able to provide a hamper to each family who requests one and be able to give those folks the extra help that they need.

> "It takes a real big family to make this happen, and it takes a lot of support from all of our businesses and individuals," said Galvin. "We get donations from even outside of Strathmore which is wonderful."

> The cut-off date of this year's collection period for donating to the hampers is Dec. 13, in order for the team to be able to assemble them and distribute to the families who requested them.

The U16B Red and U14C Strathmore Minor Ringette teams volunteered to assemble boxes for the Strathmore and Wheatland County Christmas Hamper Society on Nov. 21. The teams assembled boxes that will used for Christmas Hampers scheduled to be distributed on Dec. 16 throughout Strathmore and Wheatland County.

Kings close out weekend with pair of wins

JOHN WATSON

Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Wheatland Kings are gaining ground, working their way back into this season, claiming a pair of wins on home ice over the course of the weekend.

The Kings took a 3-1 victory over the High River Flyers on Nov. 26 and followed it up with a 4-1 win against the Red Deer Vipers the next day.

Doug Raycroft, head coach for the Kings, said he was pleased to see a four-point weekend squarely under their belts.

'Yesterday, we played a really good game, and today we were a little sloppy, but when somebody hits, sometimes the puck goes in the net and sometimes it doesn't," he said. "With our team, we have really been working on playing a strong 60-minute game, so we actually are happier with (Saturday's) game more than today, but it's important for us to get wins.'

Regarding the previous game against High River, Raycroft explained it was a tight game, with a solid display of defense, discipline and passing from the Kings.

Adding to that, over the course of the game, the Kings were able to claim some power play goals, which solidified their lead enough to claim the win.

Sunday, however, despite the victory, Raycroft said it was a bit of a different story.

We were not happy with our first period at all. It was 1-1 at the end of the first, (but) going into the second and the third, we picked up our game and we were a little bit better," he said.

Currently the Wheatland Kings are also picking up the slack left behind by their two highest-scoring players, Kage Yellowfly and Philip Raycroft.

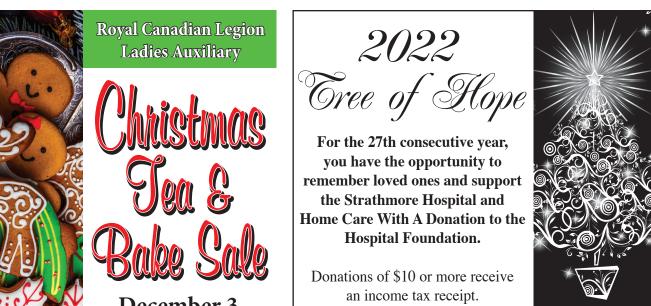

Yellowfly did not play on Sunday (unspecified absence), and Philip Raycroft is out for several weeks with a shoulder injury.

"It's hard because they are pretty good players ... but it also gives opportunities to other guys, so that is what we are focussing on," said Raycroft. "This weekend was a pretty good team effort, and people picked up the slack. We will just have to keep doing that until our guys get back."

Yellowfly currently leads the team in goals scored, with nine goals and 10 assists to his name so far this season. Philip Raycroft follows immediately behind Yellowfly with six goals scored and eight assists under his belt.

The Wheatland Kings are scheduled to square off against the Cochrane Generals on Dec. 3 (8 p.m.) at the Strathmore Family Centre, before heading on the road to take on the Sylvan Lake Wranglers the following day.

The Wheatland Kings claimed a pair of home victories over the weekend, when they defeated the High River Flyers 3-1 on Nov. 26 and the Red Deer Vipers 4-1 the following day at the Strathmore Family Centre

YOUR WEEKLY HEALTH ADVICE Capsule Comments

Canker sores are white or yellow ulcers in the mouth that can be due to injury or foods but are not contagious. They are best treated with a prescription-only topical steroid ointment and topical non-Rx anaesthetic preparations like Orajel which can bring some pain relief. Cold sores are contagious and caused by a virus, herpes simplex. They usually occur on the outer lips. The most popular non-Rx treatment is Abreva.

One more thing about cold sores.....If they keep recurring, you might consider taking oral lysine, an amino acid. at a dose of 1000mg once to three times a day. Starting this at the first sign of tingling can possibly reduce the severity and speed up healing time.

One of the myths of aging is that older people don't need as much sleep. Sleep needs don't decline with age. Seniors need the same amount of sleep (7-9 hours per night) as younger adults. A good night's sleep keeps you healthy and alert, can reduce your risk of falls and improve your overall mental well-being. Why wait until January 1 to start your New Year's resolution? Why not start today? Resolutions like cutting down on your alcohol consumption, quitting smoking, losing weight or exercising more will pay back many dividends. Resolutions now could help you steer through the minefields that are created by the holiday season. Happy New Year!

Helping Albertans with financial relief

LEELA SHARON AHEER Chestermere-Strathmore MLA

Hello Chestermere-Strathmore readers. It's been heartening to see Alberta's economy beginning to recover. The resilience of Albertans always amazes me, but even in the midst of that good news, Albertans are struggling to heat their homes and feed their families, so we listened, and here are some of the solutions we are bringing forward. A relief package that will help us all get through these next few months. Know that this is only possible because of your hard work and strong numbers coming because of our natural resources and a solid fiscal position. Thank you all for contributing to our communities and caring for each other.

Measures include:

• Seniors and families with dependent children under 18 will get $100 installments for six months for each child and senior. Only families with incomes below $180,000 per year are eligible.

• PDD, AISH, and income support recipients will also get cash installments.

• The government will suspend the provincial fuel tax for at least the next six months. Right now, there is a discounted tax of 4.5 cents per litre on gasoline and diesel. Thereafter, the province will adjust the provincial gas tax depending on the oil price, as in the existing relief program.

• The government will re-index provincial tax brackets to inflation. The move makes it less likely that a worker would be penalized on their taxes when receiving a slight bump in pay.

• The government will re-index for inflation AISH, PDD, income support, the senior's benefit, and the Alberta Child and Family benefit starting in January 2023.

• An increased rebate on electricity bills for consumers that total $200 per household.

Thank you for your input over the last couple of months. I am so grateful for the many conversations that help me to support you as your representative. As you know, I will not be running in the next election, so as always, it is a privilege to serve you. In the following few articles, I will share all of our accomplishments with you, so you can see what we have done together. I will also share upcoming projects and things in the works as we head into the election cycle so your new representative can continue the work we have started.

As always, we love to hear from you. (Leela Sharon Aheer is the MLA Elect for Chestermere-Strathmore)

Local writer feeds her inner fire

MELISSA PICHE Times Contributor

Francine Cunningham of Strathmore is an Indigenous writer, artist and educator whose poem "Feeding the Fire" has made the longlist for the 2022 CBC Poetry Prize. The list consists of 26 writers from across Canada.

Cunningham grew up in Calgary, attended University in B.C. and then moved to Strathmore during the pandemic looking for some place a little quieter and she thinks she has found just that.

Her poem, "Feeding the Fire," was "inspired by the graves that started to be found at various residential schools."

Her Nohkom, (Cree for grandmother) was placed in a residential school in Edmonton.

"It's something that has permeated every fabric of our lives. And I just really wanted to show that to people," said Cunningham.

Most of Cunningham's grandparents' siblings and cousins were also taken to a residential school in Northern Alberta.

"I remember growing up and that generation (referring to her grandparents) spoke Cree and asking myself 'why don't I?' When I learned what a residential school was, I was filled with so much anger," she said.

Cunningham explains that her anger was twofold and "the intergenerational facts that people like me are still living with."

In her poem she wanted to make sure she highlighted the children.

"It's so easy for those number (of found children) to be forgotten," said Cunningham. "I wanted to write something so we don't forget."

"Feeding the Fire" will be featured in her next book that she is currently working on. The book is described as more of a deeper dive memoir on what she presented in her first book of poetry called "On/Me."

Cunningham explains that as an Indigenous writer sometimes you can get put into a certain category of writing.

"For Indigenous writers that want to branch out into science fiction, fantasy or crime, all of these types of genres, it can be really hard for the general public to let go of what they expect of us," she said.

The general expectation of Indigenous authors, from Cunningham's personal experiences, is to write about trauma-based encounters. She said it can get really hard for Indigenous authors to have fun in their writing and be taken seriously in different writing styles.

Cunningham is an accomplished writer and multiple award winner. Some of her accomplishments include first place in 2019 at the Indigenous Voices Award; she was the winner of Grain Magazine's 2018 Short Forms Fiction Contest; she was one of the 2017 Hnatyshyn Foundation's REVEAL Indigenous Art Award winners; and she was a recipient of a 2017 TELUS Storyhive longlist for the 2022 CBC Poetry Prize.

Grant for a web series.

Her children's book called "What if Bedtime Didn't Exist?" will be released in 2023. "This book is pure fun and imagination," she said.

The books inspiration came from games she plays with her many nieces and nephews when they let their imaginations run wild. Her poem "What if?" is featured in her book of poetry; she was approached by Caitlin Press to see if she could translate the poem into a children's book. She worked on the concept of the book for a year asking her nephews and nieces crazy "what if" questions. She is currently working on a new children's book; the details are being kept quiet for now but she hinted, "it will be a fun book filled with a lot of imagination."

Cunningham's books "On/Me" and "God isn't Here Today" can be found locally at the Strathmore Library. Cunningham and her sister can also be found at the Farmers Market in the summer and any craft sales around town where her publications can be purchased.

You can view her work and read about her next projects on her website (www.francinecunningham.ca).

Obituary

Alexander James "Jim" Jim was predeceased by his parents, Phemie and John Bray; and his wife, Edna Brav. He is survived by his two daughters, Trina (Rod) Regehr and Lana Bray; six grandchildren, Zane (Angela) Schultz, Austin (Dakota) Schultz, Ethan (Kaylee) Schultz, Darby Regehr, Hannah Regehr, Reid Regehr; and three great grandchildren.

Jim was born in Manitoba, and at the young age of 13, moved to Alberta in search of opportunities and change.

Alberta provided Jim with many different careers: most involving agriculture. Many of Jim's hobbies required wranglers and a cowboy hat, for he enjoyed saddle bronc, team roping and cattle penning. However, Jim's greatest passion was hooking a team of horses, and then passing this loving and knowledge onto the next generation.

He and Edna Schwartzenberger married on November 16, 1963. They later had two daughters that they raised together on their family farm north of Strathmore. Alberta.

Both Jim and Edna took great pride in the farm and family they established. They also took great honour in their friends and forever cherished memories shared with them.

Jim passed peacefully at home with the comfort of his two daughters by his side.

Jim's family would like to thank Doctors Emile and Maria Muller, Strathmore EMS, and the doctors, nurses, and staff at Strathmore Hospital for their outstanding care.

A celebration of Jim's took place on Tuesday, November 29, 2022, at Nightingale Hall at 11:30 am. To send condolences, please visit Jim's obituary at www.wheatlandfuneralhome.ca.

COLLETT,

Casey Cameron It is with so much sadness that we announce the passing of Casey Cameron Collett on November 19, 2022. Casey was born on August 16, 1981 in Calgary, Alberta. He grew up in Hussar, and aside from working in Calgary with his Dad, Hussar is where he chose to spend his life with his love, Pam and their 2 children, Dayne and Kali. Casey was an avid sports fan, he loved his Calgary Flames and Stampeders but more than anything he loved watching Dayne play hockey and lacrosse and Kali play volleyball. He was so proud of all of their accomplishments and will always be their biggest fan. Casey was a man of great patience, which he put to the ultimate test with his favourite hobby; he could sit and play poker for hours. This passion sent him and Pam to Las Vegas more than a few times, he loved travelling with friends and everything about the city, but of course you always knew where to find him. He was never in a hurry which made him one of the best players around! He spent the summer driving with the top down, exploring southern Alberta in his corvette, which had always been a dream for him. The day he was surprised by his family with his dream car was one of his favourites. Whether it was driving to hockey in the van or playing games at home, Casey was happiest being wherever his family was. Everything Casey said and did was purposeful,

FARRELL, Elizabeth (Betty) (nee Geeraert, Van Wezel)

With much sadness we announce the passing of our dearly beloved mother, Elizabeth (Betty) Farrell, at age 104. She was born June 12, 1918. She passed away peacefully, surrounded by her family, on November 19th, 2022, at 1:45 am in the High River Hospital. Betty was survived by 5 daughters: Lynn, Judy, Sharon, Valerie and Hillary, and 27 grand, great grand and great, great grand children.

Betty was predeceased by her son, Terrance, her grand daughter, Michelle, her first husband Tony Van Wezel, her second husband, Pat Farrell, her parents, all of her siblings, and many nieces and nephews. Betty (Elizabeth (Lisha) Alina) Geeraert was born at the Rockyford, AB farm to parents Peter & Dymphina (Hamers) Geeraert: and grew up in a very loving family where she was the 6th child of 10: 6 boys and 4 girls, and has been the last remaining sibling since 2019.

Betty was first married to Tony Van Wezel in 1943, and it was Tony who nick-named her Betty. After Tony passed away in 1985, Betty met and married Pat Farrell and had a lovely, loving life with him for 30 years.

She survived the Great Depression and saw a huge revolution in everything to do with life. Betty went from pioneering to our current high tech culture. She loved life to the fullest and tried to do everything she possibly could each day. Betty's smile and attitude were charming and infectious, and she always had kind and loving words for everyone she met. Betty never complained about anything, even as she was declining badly. She always said "Oh, I'm doing ok" or "I'm fine." And she was always beautiful. Betty never missed attending Sunday Mass at St. Francis de Sales, High River, except for illness, until the last 2 weeks before she died at 104 years, 5 months and 7 days since her birth. Betty is missed dearly. She left a big hole in our hearts and our home. She was the bed-rock of all our families... the Geeraerts, the Van Wezels, and the Farrells.

In lieu of flowers, please make donations to High River Pro-Life, care of St. Francis de Sales Church, High River.

There will be a prayer vigil at Snodgrass Funeral Home in High River at 7pm on December 01, 2022. Betty's funeral will follow at the St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church in High River, December 02, 2022 at 11 am. There will be a luncheon served at the church following the service. A procession will take Betty to be laid to rest at the Strathmore Cemetery that afternoon.

November 29, 1955 - November 15, 2022 On Tuesday November 15,2022 the Johnston family unfortunately said goodbye to Frederick (Rick) George Johnston Jr. at the age of 66. Rick passed away peacefully at the Foothills Hospital. He was born in Montreal and moved to Calgary with his family in 1973. In November of 1978 Rick received his Bachelors of Education Degree from the University of Calgary. His biggest passion was music and he loved playing the drums. In 1978 he moved to Saskatoon to play drums for a band called Canadian Connection. Rick also played backup drums for Phyllis Diller

After his short stay in Saskatoon, he ended up moving back to Calgary in the fall of 1979 to teach at Colonel Irving Jr High School. On March 23, 1980, while driving from Calgary to Vancouver, Rick was involved in a horrific accident that would forever change his life. His music career unfortunately ended as he wound up in a coma and was told that he'd never walk or talk again. He defied everything the doctors said and ended up getting over 40 more years with his family. On top of his love for music and the Beatles he also enjoyed bowling with his family, bingo with his mom and hockey (especially watching the Calgary Flames and Montreal Canadians). Even though the accident may have changed his mobility it never changed him. Rick was loving, caring and the most genuine individual you'd ever meet and he will be deeply and incredibly missed by many, many people.

Rick is predeceased by his mother Doris Johnston and his Father Frederick George Johnston Sr. Rick will be missed by his brothers Lindsay Johnston (Linda Johnston and her daughter Christine Andrew) and Glen Johnston (Joanne Johnston) of Edmonton; his sister Lee Johnston (Mark Baker); his nephews Christopher Johnston (Tannis Stenhouse and her son Chase & daughter Lily), Gary Johnston (Raeanne Johnston) of Peterborough, Ontario, and Kurt Johnston (Madisson Currie); and his nieces Jaime Brown (Neil Brown), Jennifer Smith (Greg Smith), Nicole Johnston, and Taylor Johnston-Baker. He will also be missed by his great nephews Sirani Brown, Kemar Brown, and Zackary Johnston; and great nieces Latavia Brown, Lillianna Curie-Johnston, Emily Currie-Johnston and Elora Smith. Rick will also be deeply missed by his dear and very close family friend Gigi Nicholson of Regina Saskatchewan.
